You can enjoy the realistic sound of the Yamaha C7 concert grand piano by using Piano One. This hybrid modeling software allows you to enjoy the rich sound without any delay due to the hybrid modeling method. You can enhance the functionality of the piano by using more than twenty add-ons that allow you to change the play style or to modify the sound output. Piano One provides a comprehensive set of sound library with over 260 pieces. They are played by practicing pianists who specialize in classical music. This makes them far more realistic than sampled sounds that are available in other software. If you have never played the piano, Piano One will be a perfect training tool for you. You can play the piano to get used to the instrument and learn the sound as you go. When you reach a level of proficiency, you can simply select a piece from the library and play it to see how realistic it sounds. When you have mastered the sound of the piano, you can play the sounds yourself. If you select a piano in Piano One, the sounds will automatically play in concert pitch. You can change the pitch of the sound as you wish by moving the keyboard or by using the effects of the Master volume. The piano can be controlled by the tempo of the accompaniment. You can also select the dynamics of the sound. There are five available dynamic levels: Crescendo, Sforzando, Presto, Pianissimo, and Soft. You can also select the timing of the tempo or the keys to be played. If you want to play the piano with a specific key, you can move the keys with the instrument and play your own compositions. Piano One also offers the ability to transpose a piece to any key. You can adjust the sound on the fly by using an extensive set of effects. The effects can be applied to the note, the sustain, the volume, the piano, the effects section, the chord, and the overall sound. You can also record your own tracks and enjoy the natural feel of the instrument. You can also enjoy the realism of a live performance by recording the microphone and playing the sounds back in the same virtual piano. The ability to play back your own performance in combination with the MIDI recording allows you to practice live and perfect your skills. You can share your songs with friends or even publish them on the internet. You can enjoy a variety of add-ons that will make Piano One more useful. You can add a range of effects and even create your own effects. You can also choose the original sound or play back your own tracks. You can use the functions of the Dynamic Articulation and the Music Xchange instruments. Piano One also provides a MIDI section. You can record your own MIDI tracks and play them back with the piano. This feature is very convenient for musicians who want to practice a song on the piano and add notes
