(Normal, Over and Current).

You can add many tabs, remove them and change their appearance. Each menu item is uniquely identifiable by the unique ID of the menu and by a string of six alphanumeric characters as the tab name. You can use a cookie to remember the last used tab name. The Hyperlink field can be used to specify the hyperlink that is opened when you click the tab.

The URL Target field can be used to specify the frame where the hyperlink should be opened (leave the field blank to open it in the same window or enter "_blank" to open it in a new browser window). The First tab item is added with the selected tabs parameters. This tab is named with a string of six alphanumeric characters, three of which are letters and the remaining letters are numbers.

The Second tab item is added with the selected tabs parameters. This tab is named with a string of six alphanumeric characters, all of which are numbers. The Third tab item is added with the selected tabs parameters. This tab is named with a string of six alphanumeric characters, two of which are letters and the remaining letters are numbers. The Fourth tab item is added with the selected tabs parameters. This tab is named with a string of six alphanumeric characters, three of which are letters and the remaining letters are numbers. The Second tab item is added with the selected tabs parameters. This tab is named with a string of six alphanumeric characters, all of

What's New In Strong HBar?

Strong HBar allows you to easily create advanced, search engine friendly and user-friendly horizontal navigation bars. Strong HBar can be used if you want to add a horizontal navigation bar consisting of many tabs to your site. Such a menu has a very user-friendly interface and makes it considerably easier to navigate through the website. It is usually used to navigate through the main sections of the site. Menus created with Strong HBar are completely based on CSS and do not use scripts; that is why they are most attractive for search engines. These menus perfectly work in all modern browsers. They have been successfully tested in Internet Explorer 6, Opera 9, FireFox 1.0, Konqueror 3.5.2, Netscape 7. Strong HBar has three sections: Items, Style and Output. Use the Items section to add/remove menu tabs, the Style section to edit the appearance of the tabs and the Output section to get the final HTML/CSS code of the menu.

Items The Items section consists of the tab list, buttons for adding/removing tabs and several edit fields for changing the parameters of tabs. The Add Item button adds a new tab. Clone Item adds a new tab with the parameters of the selected tab. Delete Item deletes the selected tab. The Text field is used to edit the text that is displayed on the menu tab. The Hint field is used to specify the text of the hint that appears when you move the mouse pointer over the tab. The URL field is used to specify the hyperlink that is opened when you click the tab. The URL Target is used to specify the frame where the hyperlink should be opened (leave the field blank to open it in the same window or enter "_blank" to open it in a new browser window). You can select the Current checkbox to indicate the current section in the menu. Style The Style section consists of the Common Settings and Tab States sections. Use the Common Settings section to edit the general appearance of the tab appearance and the Tab States section to edit the appearance of the tab in three different states: Normal, Over and Current, where Normal corresponds to the normal state of the tab, Over corresponds to the state when the mouse pointer is over it and Current corresponds to the tab with the Current checkbox selected. The Tab States section also has the Tab Parts subsection that is used to edit the appearance of three different components in the tab: Left, Middle and Right. Output To get
