☞ A handy piece of software that offers a long list of search engines to use simultaneously when looking for something on the online environment. ☞ The setup procedure can be customized by specifying the search categories and subcategories to include in the program. ☞ Among them we can list Business and Economy (e.g. Human Resources, resumes), Computers and Internet (e.g. desktop themes, tech reviews) and News (e.g. newspapers, tech news). ☞ The app's GUI is organized into multiple panes, allowing you to easily navigate the clean layout. ☞ The standard search function requires you to enter text and, optionally enable exact phrases and automatic links verification. ☞ However, this tool can be refined in several methods. For instance, you can search for all words or any one of them, pick a category and modify search engine settings, as well as choose the analysis mode between "minimal" (duplicate links) and "intermediate" (duplicate and broken links, page sizes and dates). ☞ In addition, you can write notes. ☞ Once the scanning operation is done, you can view results in the main frame and sort them by score, title, excerpt, address, found or visited date, search engine, or in ascending order, with the most or least relevant item being on top. ☞ It is possible to verify and remove broken links, organize categories, search within the results, save webpages, send the search results via email, as well as import/export and backup/store data. ☞ Other features of Copernic Agent let you customize the layout (e.g. text size, highlights), modify search parameters, copy or move the search to another location, create and manage a favorites list, create custom categories, set spelling rules and enable disk cleanup, among others. ☞ The program is pretty light on the system resources, very responsive to commands, and carries out a search task in reasonable time, considering its large database of search engines. No error dialogs have been shown in our tests and the app did not hang or crash. Thanks to its rich features, Copernic Agent should please all users, especially the advanced ones. Ethics Beyond High School (EBHS) is a textbook designed to introduce students to ethical issues that they may face as they use the Internet. This book includes multiple articles written by both public and private educators. Students may use these articles as references when creating their own Internet ethics lessons. Students may also use the lessons in the book as supplemental materials in a variety of Internet education courses. App Review: This is the first textbook designed specifically to teach students about ethical issues regarding the use of the Internet. The book is comprised of a number of short articles. Each article begins with a short introduction, followed by a discussion of the topic and an outline of what students should know at the end of the article. The articles are short and to the point, and should not take students too long to read. Most of the topics within the book were easy to follow and understand, but the book was difficult to navigate. The book was designed to be a quick read, but it seems to be much more like a reference book. For example, in each of the articles, most of the references are for the Internet or for academic research. I think it would have been helpful if the author had also included a few more general references, for example the National Information Standards Organization. However, I did enjoy the book, because it was very informative and interesting. I learned a lot about the Internet and some of the ethical issues surrounding its use. I found the book to be very helpful in teaching me how to have a good online experience and how to behave when using the Internet. This book could be very helpful for students who will be taking college-level Internet classes in the future. Score: 5/5 IntelliGo Accelerates Academic Learning Description: If you're a student struggling with your time management and procrastination habits, you know it can be hard to stick with your studies. In order to manage the pressures of your academic life, IntelliGo accelerates your learning, letting you focus on the things that will help you succeed academically, instead of feeling overwhelmed by the amount of things you have to do. This app helps you to improve your memory by reminding you of your study assignments, answering test questions, and reminding you of a lesson you may have missed. These features will help you prioritize your study time effectively and focus on the most important things you need to know in order to succeed. Copernic Agent is an application that lets you get an overview of the websites you visit or what you search for on the Internet. Use it to find and eliminate broken links, save your favorite pages or the ones that interest you, send the search results by email, and create your own categories and favorites list, among many other features. The search functions include text, exact phrase, and automatic link verification. You can choose from among over 150 search engines, which can be exported as a comma-separated file. If your search queries lead you to a broken page, Copernic Agent can let you remove it from your search results. It can also analyze the text and provide you with information about the webpages it visits or reviews. In addition, you can organize your search results according to categories and individual pages, and organize your favorites in a list. You can also save the search results and send them by email. You can even export the list of results to a comma-separated file. You can also perform a text search on your favorite pages or all the web pages you visit and collect the list of visited pages in the database. You can also organize them according to categories and sort them by date, title, score or date visited. Another useful feature allows you to clear the search results and the memory of the application by deleting the search history and clear the memory of your computer. You can also reset the application and edit the list of engines and search categories. When you are finished, the tool provides you with information about the search engine, including the location and popularity of the website. You can also search for the tools used on the page. The program provides you with a good number of options. You can, for instance, organize the database according to the date you visited it or eliminate any webpages with the "Confirm Removal" option. You can also choose a file to download the data to, as well as view the list of your saved searches, manage the favorites list, create and edit your own categories and configure the program. You can also change the text size, set spelling rules and enable disk cleanup. One of the best features of Copernic Agent is that it is completely free and ad-supported. The program does not slow down your computer and does not use too much RAM, which makes it a valuable tool for all users, particularly the advanced ones. Copernic Agent has a nice user-friendly interface that does not require a
