VisualNEO is a powerful, free, web-based, integrated development environment (IDE) that empowers novice and professional programmers alike to create interactive, professional looking Windows and desktop applications and websites, such as business presentations, learning aids and games. VisualNEO is a visual, easy-to-learn IDE that only requires a few simple drag-and-drop commands to build comprehensive applications without the need to write any code. VisualNEO will guide you step-by-step through all the relevant steps in creating an interactive, professional looking Windows and desktop application or website.

VisualNEO is a web-based application that can be accessed from any computer with Internet access. With VisualNEO you can also use the IDE on any computer running Linux, and not only on Windows PCs. VisualNEO is the fastest and most productive way to create and publish Windows and desktop applications and websites. VisualNEO has been created for novice and professional programmers alike and is best described as a visual programming tool, or as a web-based software tool with a visual development environment. VisualNEO is user-friendly and intuitive with a beginner's programming language, scripted via a proprietary scripting language which is best described as drag and drop in nature, and is used to develop desktop, window and web applications. VisualNEO will generate and compile your programs for you, all you need to do is drag-and-drop elements from the IDE to your application and everything is taken care of. One of the greatest features of VisualNEO is that you do not need to know any code to create your programs, you can simply drag-and-drop images, sound files, and text to create, compile and publish your applications without the need to write any code. With VisualNEO you can even integrate your scripts into the IDE, and all you need to do is click the "Run" button on the IDE and VisualNEO will take care of the rest, without any need for knowledge of programming. VisualNEO has been created as a tool that is simple for non-programmers to use but at the same time powerful enough to create complicated programs, and it is the only tool that can build full-fledged programs from desktop, window and website applications. Features: 1. Create Windows and desktop applications without the need to write any code. 2. Build application from self-contained Windows application which is then ready for consumer distribution. 3. Enable you to add different

This is a plugin manager that allows for the creation of macros and other features that can be enabled or disabled from any macro that you create. MACROS can be used for buttons, progress bars, and other standard elements of a GUI. You can create your own mouse wheel macros, scroll to scroll macros, load and unload macros and much more. It can also be used to emulate the features of other IDE's such as Visual Studio (VS) and KDevelop. It can be used to give users a true developer experience when programming. Features: * Creating Macros - MACRO's are created by dragging and dropping standard elements onto the main window. You can then edit and edit them like any other macro. You can drag elements from one macro to another and you can arrange them the way you want. * Import/Export Profiles - IMPORTING A PROFILE means you are able to move macros, edit macro states, reload them, disable them, etc. EXPORTING a profile means you can copy and paste macros between profiles. * Creating Gtk Dialogs - Gtk Dialogs are created using the inbuilt dialog functions of GtkBuilder and are easy to use. You can then copy and paste the entire dialog window into the main window window to create a whole bunch of macros. * Checkboxes and SpinButtons - The inbuilt gtkcheckboxbutton and spinbutton widgets can be used to create true radio buttons and spinbuttons. This enables them to be used in a range of widgets such as buttons, menu items and labels. * Button States - The inbuilt gtkstyle can be used to define a button style and the state of the button can be set using the enum's that have been created in the macro module. * Radio Buttons - A radio button is created using the inbuilt radiobutton widget. This means you can create a radio button in a box layout and the state of each button can be set using the enum's that have been created in the macro module. * Drawings - The inbuilt drawing module can be used to draw in elements in the macro. This allows for animations and graphics in macros. * Loading and unloading macros - There is an inbuilt module for loading and unloading macros. This means you can load a macro when you start to use it and unload it when you are done. * Icon Buttons - Icon buttons can be created using the inbuilt gtkiconbutton widget. This 77a5ca646e

VisualNEO is designed for the non-professional programmer and the novice to professional programmer. VisualNEO is an easy-to-use visual programming environment that provides all the features found in programming languages like Visual Basic, Visual C#, and Visual J# as well as all the familiar operations and tools used in all the Windows based programming environments. Computer training programs are not the same. Some of these are paid programs, while others are free to use or play with. Some are on-line, while others require the individual to get the CD and sit and play or sit in the classroom at a computer school. You get what you pay for, and there are many differences between these programs. The most crucial difference is that some are classroom oriented, while others are not. The classroom programs cost a lot more, and are much more expensive, as well. The classroom programs are also much longer, as they will allow you to learn all the software, as well as other things. They are also much more focused on producing working software. The computer training programs, however, are not as expensive as the classroom ones, and they are much more focused on the person learning to program. They are also much shorter, generally taking about a week or less. They are also a lot more personal, as you can interact with your instructor at every turn. These programs are generally fairly interactive as well. You can ask questions, or say what you don't understand. A good number of these programs can even help you with programming competitions such as CodeMash. These are paid programs, generally. They are also much longer than the computer training programs. They are also much more expensive than the computer training programs. The programs are also much shorter, usually taking just a week or so. You don't have the luxury of having a classroom instructor for every step of your learning, as you do with the classroom programs.
