[Antigenic structure of the cell wall of Vibrio cholerae isolated in different areas of the USSR]. The cell wall antigens of 84 toxigenic and non-toxigenic strains of V. cholerae isolated in various regions of the USSR were studied. The antigens were shown to be common for all toxigenic and non-toxigenic strains. However, toxigenic V. cholerae possessed a greater number of the cell wall antigens than non-toxigenic strains.Pete Buttigieg's campaign says it's received the third largest donation ever from a presidential candidate, a $900,000 check from a technology entrepreneur whose companies have worked with the DNC. Pete Buttigieg's campaign says it's received the third largest donation ever from a presidential candidate, a $900,000 check from a technology entrepreneur whose companies have worked with the DNC. Slate reports on Buttigieg's donor and his work with the DNC: First, Buttigieg has just released the most comprehensive plan for college education of any candidate. His plan is the most extensive and detailed college plan of any candidate, by several orders of magnitude. "My approach to education," he says, "is to be comprehensive. When you're dealing with a problem as large and complex as the problems of poverty and inequality, and you're proposing to solve these problems, you need to start with a comprehensive plan." Each of the new Democratic Party presidential candidates have put out their own plans to "make college affordable," but Buttigieg's seems to be the most comprehensive, by a wide margin. "If you wanna do something about it," he says, "don't
