Paint Shop Pro Paint Shop Pro is a raster-based image manipulation program developed by Corel and based on the same Photoshop concept and structure. It can be used to create and edit graphics for any purpose, whether it be for a website or for printed publication. Like Photoshop, it includes a wide array of brushes, textures, overlays, and special effects that can be applied to layers. One of its most enticing features is that it comes with a powerful art library that allows users to place images within a canvas, rotate, scale, rotate, and even combine images with Photoshop's layer-based editing technique.

Alumnus Helps Build Lake of the Ozarks Talent Pool January 12, 2017 When the University of Central Missouri's internship department opened for the Fall 2016 semester, the search was on to find interns who had the right personality traits and the skills to be an asset to their organizations. "We looked at almost 100 potential interns and narrowed the list to eight," said Kaleb Russell, a 2005 UP Master of Business Administration graduate. "We met in person with each intern." Russell was a perfect fit for the internship department. He has a passion for helping young people, which is what drew him to the Up. "I'm a big advocate for bringing new people in and passing them on to the next stage of their careers," Russell said. "The more people who can give back to their communities, the more change will be made. I really believe that everyone can serve a purpose, and that everyone should be involved in their communities. I am really excited to be doing this internship and can't wait to give back to this area." Up career services provides internships to UCM students in a number of fields. By the end of the Fall 2016 semester, Russell and fellow student Nicole Ulrich received two internships. The intent was to give them real-world experience in their fields of interest. Russell's internship was with the Small Business Development Center at CMU; Ulrich was hired by a local graphic design agency. Both students successfully completed their internships and are now employed in their respective fields. "This internship gave me a first-hand look at the business world," said Russell, who is currently working for the University in the Student Success Services department. "I went in to the experience thinking I knew what I was doing. I learned a lot. I'm definitely not an expert in my field, but I can work with a lot of information and make it work." After his internship, Russell saw firsthand that it was possible for any student to obtain an internship if he or she put forth the effort. "It's possible for anyone, even if you don't have the education that some people might have, to have an internship," Russell said. "You have to be willing to put in the time and effort. With the internship, I had a great experience

Some people tell me they don't like certain types of music, but I don't understand why. Why is it that some people don't like classical, country, or blues? Do all of these genres of music have lyrics that are too suggestive? Are they just not pleasant to listen to? Is there an age thing going on? My mom listens to country and classical but in her house. She and dad are the only people who listen to this type of music in their house. Is it because my mom and dad are old and the others are not? I would hate to hear my wife, mother, and children complain about music, but I imagine that would be the case. They just don't understand. I can understand myself. I don't like rap or R&B. That genre of music is crude and vulgar. I will not subject myself to it. There are some songs that can be rather derogatory; one might call it "antique" music for some of these lyrics. How do you prove you're a bad person if you listen to music that doesn't represent your lifestyle? I have been blessed that my wife is not afraid of music like I am. I am sure she has been very frustrated by my obdurate attitude. It's hard to get things done around here when the man won't listen to music. But it's not a matter of listening to it. It's a matter of a bad habit. Some of my best friends
