
Microsoft Windows XP Product Key Update Tool

I'm trying to replace my "general" OEM product key with the "individual" product key listed on the "Microsoft-Genuine" label on the back . . . This works well, but there is one problem: it doesn't replace the old OEM key with "OEM product key", so it just replaces the OEM key with the label. Am I missing something? Thanks! -Hurry Try "get a new version". This should replace the OEM Key. If after that you still cannot change the product key, check your computer for viruses. I had the same problem and when I tried to uninstall the antivirus program it tried to replace the "product key" with a desktop shortcut.
