I've connected my iPhone to a network that has Apple TV Home Sharing enabled. Now I'd like to take advantage of this by sharing my iTunes music library with my Apple TV. However, it seems that at the moment Apple TV doesn't have a public list of such libraries. So far I've found this web site (via web search) that suggests a library is public if the collection name is: Public Music Library Public TV d0c515b9f4

Produced by Don Freed, the series starred Gerald Hannon as the proprietor of a settlement on the King Island of the Thule region in the extreme west of Canada. Among the cast were Paul Ahmarani and Sarah Cuckfield. Broadcast history In February 1975, CBC-TV announced it would launch a sitcom aimed at the educational market, starring Gerald Hannon as the owner of a settlement on the King Island of the Thule region in the extreme west of Canada, with Hannon's son Barney working with the family and another islander as resident doctor. Hannon's agent later told The Globe and Mail that the family was "located on an island in the far reaches of the Arctic Circle, in the Northern Yukon" and said, "we're dealing with a completely unique situation. We're not looking at an ordinary sitcom." Although filmed on location, it was produced in studios in Vancouver, British Columbia. The series first aired on CBC on June 15, 1976. It was later shown on CBC-TV in the United States under the title Canada's Arctic Adventure. It was later repeated by the U.S. cable network Lifetime. The CBC aired the series for a total of eight
