HPï¼[]whazzupu.com/profiles/blogs/master-thesis-search-7Tag: @Hamdi Abdullah We've been talking about the coming week's big games in the Premier League for a while now, with Liverpool and Manchester City both looking to bounce back from recent defeats. Tottenham, Arsenal and Chelsea will also look to overturn their previous form. Here is your guide to what's happening in the Premier League this weekend... Monday, August 20 Premier League Tottenham v Liverpool, 12:30 GMT Tottenham visit a Liverpool team who have dropped points in four of their last five games, with a tough trip to Southampton in between. Manchester City v Newcastle, 14:00 GMT Manchester City host Newcastle, who are currently enjoying a bit of a hot-streak, after beating Southampton and West Ham earlier this season. Ligue 1 Paris Saint-Germain v Nice, 12:45 GMT PSG welcome Nice to the Parc des Princes for their Ligue 1 opener. The French side have conceded a league-high 27 goals so far this season and will be looking to keep their place in the Champions League knockout stages on Saturday. RB Leipzig v Hoffenheim, 12:45 GMT RB Leipzig have big hopes of a UEFA Europa League place after the summer additions of Naby Keita and Julian Brandt, but Hoffenheim need to win this match to keep in touch with

The authors introduce a new nosological entity, the fibrofolliculomas of the face and neck. They define three main types in order to be able to understand the pathogenesis of this type of lesion. The fibrofolliculomas, from the histological and clinical standpoints, are considered to be analogous to the so-called fibroadenomas. The second type, frequently associated with the first, is particularly frequent in young people, and it is likely that it is the veritable fibrofolliculoma of B. F. T. S. L'histogenesis is still unknown, but the authors hold that it is essentially due to an unbalance of the hormone metabolism in the face. Moreover, the gradual aging of the women to which this lesion is associated induces a considerable increase of the proliferation of this cell type, and its development is even more marked in the sun-exposed areas of the skin.--- abstract: 'This paper presents a novel and practical training policy of end-to-end speech recognition, which is called training by losses, through a large training set of transcribed utterances with their lengths. First, the main training objectives are formulated to enable the learning on both the training set as well as the whole training set. These are the training and test loss functions, and the weighted sum of them. Second, a novel training policy for training by losses is proposed, called generalize-forward, under which the training policy
