room temperature. Proteins were detected using an enhanced chemiluminescence reaction (Thermo Scientific, Rockford, USA). The proteins were visualized using a ChemiDoc imaging system (Bio-Rad, Hercules, USA). Western blot {#Sec21} ----- Standard western blot was performed by the following steps. After the cell lysates were added into the SDS sample buffer, the samples were boiled for 5 min and cooled to room temperature. Then, 20 μ L of each sample was loaded per lane on an SDS-PAGE gel (10% gradient gel). The proteins were then transferred onto a polyvinylidene difluoride (PVDF) membrane (0.45 μm). The membrane was placed in blocking solution for 1 h at room temperature, followed by treatment with mouse anti-human p65 monoclonal antibody (1:1000, Santa Cruz Biotechnology, USA), mouse anti-human I κ B α monoclonal antibody (1:1000, Santa Cruz Biotechnology, USA), mouse anti-human β -actin monoclonal antibody (1:1000, Santa Cruz Biotechnology, USA), and rabbit anti-human GAPDH polyclonal antibody (1:2000, Cell Signaling Technology, USA) overnight

Inside an abysmal prison known as the pit. save a young girl from the clutches of the evil prison warden (Udaya Kumar) Kick 2 is a 2005 Indian Hindi-language action comedy film directed by Shekhar Kapur. It is the sequel to the 2003 film Kick. The film starring John Abraham, Sridevi, John Abraham, and Sonali Bendre went on to become the second highest grosser of 2005. Its two sequels, Kick 2 and Kick 3, were also released that year. Kick 2 was the highest-grossing Indian film of the year. The film's music, soundtrack and remixes were released a year later. Kaal 2005 is the Hindi dubbed version of the 2005 Bollywood movie of the same name starring John Abraham, Sridevi, and Sonali Bendre. Produced by Visual Fusion, Kaal is a year-long project that was conceived and released between 2005 and 2006. The release of the movie in 2004 was postponed by a year after the movie Kick due to the July 11, 2004 terror attacks in Mumbai. In the film, John Abraham and Sridevi shared the lead roles. Sridevi and John Abraham are married in real life. The film grossed over ₹ which was considered average for a Bollywood film of this length. A notable absence in the film's cast was Rajinikanth, who did not appear in any of the Kick films. This is largely due to a bitter rivalry between Rajini and the film's director, Shekhar Kapur. The film had a plotline similar to that of the 2003 film, also produced by Visual Fusion, where two inmates pretended to kill a prison warden. The Director of the film, Shekhar Kapur then, released his 2004 film, Paa, in October. The film starred Sridevi and Ajay Devgan was box office successful. The film does not include the dance songs used for the movie kick. After the release of the film, Sridevi's family and friends suggested that she make a comeback in 2012 by starring in movies like the one from the west. This led to the first cast of the Kick project, which began in early 2009. The film kicked off with a pre-taped interview at the Television City in Mumbai. The idea behind the Kick project came from the desire to work together again after their years of rivalry. The next shoot took place
