The new Chrysanthemum is a product of a planned breeding program conducted by the Inventor in Fareham, Hampshire, United Kingdom. The objective of the breeding program is to create new cut Chrysanthemum cultivars with numerous unique and attractive inflorescences. The new Chrysanthemum originated from a cross-pollination made by the Inventor in January, 2001, of a proprietary selection of Chrysanthemum identified as code number 99.325, not patented, as the female, or seed, parent with a proprietary selection of Chrysanthemum identified as code number 99.327, not patented, as the male, or pollen, parent. The new Chrysanthemum was discovered and selected by the Inventor as a single flowering plant within the progeny of the stated cross-pollination in a controlled greenhouse environment in Fareham, Hampshire, United Kingdom in September, 2002. Asexual reproduction of the new Chrysanthemum by terminal cuttings in a controlled greenhouse environment in Fareham, Hampshire, United Kingdom since October, 2002, has shown that the unique features of this new Chrysanthemum are stable and reproduced true to type in successive generations.Q: Opinion about wordpress shortcode I got an idea from the wordpress extension I use that
