Apple, technology and the media industry are up for grabs again, this time in the aftermath of the Donald Trump's victory over Hillary Clinton in the U.S. presidential election. Donald Trump's election has been met with protest and outrage. Apple is one of the tech industry giants that's being questioned. In this week's episode, I'll go over the top 5 reasons why the media industry is fed up with Apple. Top 5 Reasons Why the Media Industry is Fed Up with Apple A new technology is always going to come in and shake up the industry landscape, but the present day is no different. With Apple's latest operating system, iOS 10, they've gotten everyone talking and shaking their heads in disapproval. Apple has gone from a company that doesn't need to go to the media, to need to do battle with the media. In the last few months, Apple has dealt with a bunch of big, high profile issues and controversies. Also read: Apple vs. FBI vs. Copyrighted Media Apple's CEO Tim Cook has publicly distanced himself from the company's president. He says "the person in charge of this company doesn't speak for me," and "doesn't have my confidence." (Read more in this interview with CNN) The iOS 10 operating system has been attacked for prohibiting users from disabling the Touch ID feature to make it harder for people to unlock devices. This apparently gives law enforcement the ability to unlock a device without user permission. (Read more about the Touch ID feature here) Apple's mobile platforms have been criticized for prohibiting app developers from deleting their apps from the App Store. The same goes for removing apps that sell certain kinds of pirated content. (Read more about this here) The next iPhone, iPhone 7, has an iPhone camera on the back with dual-lens camera that offers a similar 6-megapixel camera to the one in the iPhone 6S Plus. At the time, this was seen as being a downgrade. The dual-lens phone was initially positioned as being a thing to combat flaws in the single-lens iPhone 6S. This turned out to be an expensive mistake, with the single-lens camera delivering higher quality pictures than the dual-lens camera. (Read more about the iPhone 7 here)

1. Technical Field The present invention relates generally to data communication, and more specifically to data processing in a wireless communication system. 2. Description of the Related Art A communication system includes a DownLink (DL) that conveys transmission signals from transmission points such as an access node to User Equipments (UEs). A communication system also includes an UpLink (UL) that conveys transmission signals from UEs to reception points such as an access node. A UE, which may also be referred to as a terminal or a mobile station, may be fixed or mobile and may be a wireless device, a cellular phone, a personal computer device, a wireless modem card, etc. A Node B is generally a fixed station and may also be referred to as an access point or a base station and may be a base station, an access router, or a modem. DL signals include data signals carrying information content, control signals carrying DL control information, and Reference Signals (RS), which are also known as pilot signals. A Node B conveys DL data signals to UEs through a Physical DL Shared CHannel (PDSCH). DL control information can include DL scheduling information sent on a PDCCH by the Node B. UL signals include data signals carrying information content, control signals carrying UL control information, and RS. UEs convey UL data signals through a Physical UL Shared CHannel (PUSCH). UEs may also convey UL control signals through a PUCCH. A Node B transmits a PDSCH signal through a Physical DL Primary Component Subchannel (P1 SCCH), which includes at least one or more of antenna port configurations, Mux Types, and Transport Channels. A PUCCH signal is transmitted through a Physical UL Secondary Component Subchannel (P2 SCCH). DL control information may be transmitted through a Physical DL Control Channel (PDCCH) and includes DL scheduling information and DL Control Information (DCI).

Scheduling information may be transmitted in a Physical DL Control Format Indicator Channel (PDCCH) region of a PDCCH, which occupies the first  $n_{\text{symbols}}$  of a subframe. In a subframe having a size of  $m_{\text{symbols}}$ , the PDCCH may occupy the remaining part of the subframe ( $n_{\text{symbols}} - m_{\text{symbols}}$ ). A PUCCH may be punctured in some subframes to transmit a PUCCH. A PUCCH transmission is enabled for some UEs through higher layer scheduling
