The BOINC program is a client for the SETI@home network. It is a distributed computing project for large-scale scientific research into exoplanets. It relies on volunteers from around the world to analyse data collected by the BOINC-enabled radio telescopes of the SETI Institute. Boinc connects to the telescope servers, the data is downloaded and analysed in the background by a broad range of PCs (called volunteers) to check for a signal that would indicate the presence of a planet that can be studied in more detail. It can also be used to analyze data from other astronomers. Google Play applications are very easy to use. During installation, Google Play terms of service will appear. Hit
