Chorizo » 2006 In regards to my love for chorizo; I didn't eat a whole lot of it growing up. My Grandma made her own tortillas and I ate with her most of the time. I enjoyed the food but it just wasn't something I really touched. If I did eat it I always enjoyed it grilled, wrapped in a tortilla with cabbage and tomatoes. Still does too. I remember as a kid I would go into the International Market and see all the fresh meats and vegetables; yet my mom said I was never allowed to touch anything. Once I was old enough and more free to go, we would find things like Corn on the Cob and what was for me, Corn and Black Beans. So just like that, I had gone from eating fatty most things to eating healthy veggies. I didn't touch the fatty stuff and I ate a plethora of veggies. That was until 2009 when my wife got the craving for Mexican food. She was buying me breakfast everyday then it was weekend breakfast. So we'd go out and eat breakfast burritos and Tacos. I kept telling her that I hadn't eaten much Mexican food since I was in High School, I wasn't sure I liked it then. So I started opening my eyes to what was being served, what the tacos were, and the beans. The taste was amazing and right then I fell in love with Mexican food. I really wanted to learn to make it but of course, this is during when I was working as a dishwasher at a taco place. The hands on moment was over and I just wasn't going to be spending a lot of time on the stove or oven. So I started researching how to make my own. That's when I found a lot of different brands of fresh Chorizo. I had no idea what a fresh Chorizo was until I started cooking with it. It was like a spicy version of Italian sausage. There was one brand that was even smoked. Honestly, I don't remember what brand I got but I think it was the Monterey brand. So I started putting it in dishes; and then when I found the Hatch green chile and the Anaheim chile, I kept on putting it in dishes. And when I found out that these 2 chiles could work in a dish with the fresh Chorizo, I'm sure my tastebuds were blown away. It was all because of that one big disappointment with my

Q: Hide the price of a product in the cart view I don't want to display the price of a product that is in the cart view. I don't want to try to get all the items then remove the price from each product as it will be time consuming. I have done this in the past by using:

if(!Mage::getSingleton('checkout/session')->getQuote()->getCurrency()->getCode() ==

"USD") { //Do nothing, as the price is not displayed } Which doesn't work now as the price is now calculated dynamically (I'm using a custom PayPal module that adds/removes based on how much you have to pay). How can I hide the price of a product that is added to the cart that isn't the default currency? A: If you want to do it dynamically, then add something to the template like It will look for price.info.phtml in YOUR_TEMPLATE/path/to/template.phtml If you want to do it for the entire cart (not only the price), then you can do it on getProductInfo() of the class Mage_Checkout_Block_Cart (for the cart) and /controllers/CartController.php and /Model/Cart.php (for the quote); they make an _ajaxCall() to the controller action for retrieving the product data. Q: How to select elements from the first two rows of a table? I've got a table which I only want the first two rows. In the first two rows, I want to select the 3rd and 4th columns. Is there a way to do this? Thing 1 Thing 2 Thing 3 Thing 4
