Like the Elements version, Photoshop doesn't have a lot of bells and whistles. Photoshop allows you to create images, edit them and make them look better than they did before. It's a powerful and versatile image editor. It's a useful tool for personal and professional use. Both Photoshop and Elements follow a similar tutorial format. They both share a similar structure, but at the same time are different. In this tutorial, we'll see how to use Photoshop Elements to make cute cartoon characters. Plus, we'll see how to change colors, use textures and work with gradients. The process can be summed up in four simple steps: Step 1: Creating the characters Create a new document with the size of your choice. This will be the canvas on which you will be working. Step 2: Adding a texture We'll use the Texture from the Effects menu. You can find it in the Textures category. Step 3: Starting a new layer This is a fundamental step. It's the first thing you will do in every Photoshop file. The layers are like the plates inside a kitchen. It's the area where you place the food and, you know, it's where the components of the dish are made. The layers make it possible to paint and erase specific parts of the image. In this example, we're creating layers, that's why we're in that step. Step 4: Making a mistake We hit the BACKSPACE key without realizing it. It's quite easy to do. You can correct this mistake by pressing DELETE. Adding a texture. The only thing we need is to choose the "texture" that we want. Adding layers. Step 1. Starting a new document. Step 2. Adding a texture. Step 3. Here, you can see our mistake. Step 4. Correcting the mistake. Step 5: Getting a snapshot of the final result. That's it. We've got a cartoon character! Step 1: Creating the characters Step 2: Adding a texture Step 3: Starting a new layer Step 4: Making a mistake Step 5: Correcting a mistake If you have a computer that supports it, you can open the original image and make changes directly. As shown below, the final image 05a79cecff

1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an image forming apparatus such as a printer, a facsimile machine, a copying machine, or a multifunction device combining two or more functions of the printer, the facsimile, the copying machine, or the like, and a method of controlling the same. 2. Description of the Related Art In an image forming apparatus such as a printer, a facsimile machine, a copying machine, or the like, if paper, print paper, etc. that has been printed with image data is not properly ejected outside the body of the image forming apparatus, the user may find the need to cause the image forming apparatus to return the paper to the body of the image forming apparatus because the paper is jammed inside the apparatus. When this happens, the user must perform paper ejection operations himself or herself or request a service representative to perform the paper ejection operation. To make it easier for the user to perform paper ejection operations, an image forming apparatus has been developed that automatically ejects print paper, the front cover, etc. through its ejection mechanism on completion of printing so that the paper can be taken out of the apparatus safely. The image forming apparatus described above, however, may be brought into an abnormal state in which a paper ejection sensor detects a paper jam at an early stage so that the apparatus ejects the print paper, the front cover, etc., before the user is aware of the occurrence of the paper jam. As a result, the paper, the front cover, etc. that have been ejected may become caught in the paper ejection mechanism. When this occurs, the apparatus cannot fully eject the paper, the front cover, etc. from the apparatus and may adversely affect the user, for example, by not letting out the paper, the front cover, etc. Finally, the paper, the front cover, etc. that cannot be ejected from the apparatus will be jammed inside the apparatus to make it impossible to perform image formation on the paper, the front cover, etc. Techniques have been proposed to resolve this problem. Japanese Patent Application Laid-open No. 2010-232677 discusses an image forming apparatus that decides whether or not an ejection sensor that is provided with a paper ejection detecting switch detects the presence of paper and thus detects the occurrence of a paper jam based on the timing of detection by the ejection sensor. With the technique discussed in Japanese Patent Application Laid-open No.
