HyperMotion Technology brings a new level of realism to various football actions and styles of play, from quick attacks to counter-attacks and more. In addition, it helps to further optimise the game itself. It also brings a new layer of precision and fidelity to players' movements, creating a more intimate and authentic feeling of their game. "Our goal with Fifa is to make the most authentic football experience possible," said Adam Boszloo, Senior Vice President, Marketing at Electronic Arts. "The introduction of HyperMotion Technology into Fifa 22 further strengthens that goal, as players' actions are even more authentically reproduced than ever before. Players' movements will now feel more authentic and intuitive than ever before." "HyperMotion Technology is a really significant technology upgrade in Fifa 22. It's a huge step forward for the series and, more importantly, a huge step forward for football fans around the world.” said Peter Bosz, Head of Sports at DICE. “We’ve worked closely with our player data analysts to understand how our 21 players move – and what it takes to bring their movements to life on screen. We’ve used all the data we’ve gathered to create the most immersive football experience to date.” Motion capture functionality has been incorporated into FIFA 22 for the first time in the game’s history. Players have been outfitted with motion-capture suits to enable high-fidelity movements to be captured on-field, as well as used in the hyper-realistic player models to create more accurate representations of players. These new features enhance players’ presence in the game, including a more realistic set of player traits, with more accurate animations and player models. FIFA Ultimate Team will also benefit from the new fidelity of the player models. As more players are added to a squad, their skills will be more accurately represented in all of the popular Ultimate Team modes. The new top-level player models also create a more flexible playing style and feel. Players will be able to improve their FIFA Ultimate Team gameplay by using them in more competitive modes, such as tournaments and multiplayer Online, to further refine their attributes and strengthen their playing abilities. In FIFA Ultimate Team you don't just pick the players you want – you build your team by collecting players and earning packs. The online FUT Draft Mode allows you to build your ultimate team of players. Cinematics – An all-new level of presentation brings your favourite clubs and players to life on the pitch. Players turn and sprint towards a goal, a pass is made, shots are taken, and challenges are faced with a new eye-popping quality that delivers the cinematic experience you've been craving. New lighting, player models and crowd models all improve the look and feel of the new player-focused visuals. FIFA Play The de-activated League Pass may be interesting to give, but I still believe that FIFA 19 is the best FIFA yet. But, but FIFA 22 is so exciting and FUT looks really awesome!!! It will be the best FIFA yet. I've been playing FIFA 20 and I have to say that

FIFA 22 is the best FIFA I've ever played. IF THE IPAD IS TOO BIG, IT'S BEST TO SWITCH IT TO A TABLET, BUT IF THE TABLET IS TOO BIG, IT'S BEST TO GET A SMALLER TABLET It's been a long time since the last FIFA game. Now the last title is called FIFA 22, it's better then the FIFA 19, the sounds is better, the gameplay is better, the graphics is better, the touch is better, the referees is better, the stadium is better, the pass, shot, dribble are best ever, the championship is better, the quality of the camera is best, the added this of Ultimate Team and a Little bit Play is better, the online is better and last that it's the best FIFA EVER AND I LOVE IT Not the same FIFA I remember I don't understand how Fifa 19 is so good for pc, but this can't be that good. The gameplay is average and boring, the graphics is alright, the match is boring and there's no buyable items or badges. This FIFA doesn't even have Lincos- the best mode in FIFA and it's not even in the game. My real complaint is that FIFA released a game that can't be played on pc... FIFA on my PS4 is the most realistic football on this planet FIFA is like the perfect rollercoaster ride. It's amazing how much gameplay there is, the game's
