The use of glycoproteins as substrates for the assay of Golgi-enzymes has been, and continues to be, one of the best approaches to elucidating glycoprotein biosynthesis. In addition, several lines of investigation have led to the discovery that certain glycolipids are synthesized in the Golgi apparatus as well as in the lysosomes. Our work has led to the isolation and characterization of two enzymes which are specific for glycolipids and are believed to be involved in the biosynthesis of these compounds. In order to gain insights into the nature of this pathway, we have embarked on a study of the regulation of the biosynthesis of these molecules. The short-term objective of this proposal is to study the regulation of the different glycolipid biosynthetic pathways which use either GlcCer or GalCer as substrates. The long-term objective of this research proposal is to determine whether there are separate enzymes which transfer GlcCer and GalCer to their specific glycosidic linkages. The approach to achieving these goals is to characterize and isolate the enzymes involved in the different pathways of glycolipid biosynthesis.

What's New in the?

, he called as plaintiff in this case. He left the army in 1924 and some years later went into business as a dealer in sugar. He later came back to Coudersport and bought the land which is the subject of this lawsuit. He testified that he paid the amount of $42,500 for the land in two installments. The first payment was made on July 1, 1924, and the balance, amounting to $17,500, was paid on December 1, 1928. The land had been previously deeded to a corporation for the purpose of conducting an orphanage in connection with the Church of the Redeemer. The testimony of the defendant was that Mr. Gordon had been interested in building orphanages all over the country. He testified further that he had sold land to Mr. Gordon. It is a well-established principle that the great weight of the evidence of a landowner is the purchase price as evidence of value. It is in general a strong and convincing rule of evidence. Wertz v. Von Finke, 207 Pa. 602, 56 A. 1033. It would seem that this principle is applicable to the case at bar. The chancellor was aware of the rule and specifically stated in his opinion that the purchase price was entitled to the greatest weight. In view of all the evidence and the many inconsistencies in the testimony of the defendant, we do not feel that his finding was clearly against the weight of the evidence. The appellant contends further that the chancellor erred in admitting into evidence the testimony of the defendant as to the purchase price of the land at the time of the deed and also as to the price of the property in the amount of $42,500. The appellant claims that the admission of this evidence was in violation of the parol evidence rule, and that the sale price paid by the defendant to the corporation was in nowise material as to the fair cash value of the land at the time of the sale. As we have already said the chancellor was fully aware of the rule. He gave to the evidence the weight that he believed it deserved. We find no error in the court's action. The testimony of the defendant was that he had sold property to Mr. Gordon and the defendant further testified that he had made some slight repairs on the property which increased the value of the land some $12,000, or more than one-half its value. The chancellor stated that this testimony was contradicted by the record of sale of the land by the defendant corporation, the defendant.
