Roblox is an online game platform and game creation system developed by Roblox Corporation that allows users to program games and play games created by other users. Created by David Baszucki and Erik Cassel in 2004 and released in 2006, the platform hosts user-created games of multiple genres coded in the programming language Lua. For most of Roblox's history, it was relatively small, both as a platform and a company. Roblox began to grow rapidly in the second half of the 2010s, and this growth has been accelerated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Roblox is free to play, with in-game purchases available through a virtual currency called Robux. As of August 2020,

Roblox had over 164 million monthly active users, including more than half of all American children under 16. Although Roblox has received generally positive reviews from critics, it has faced criticism for its moderation, microtransactions, and exploitative practices directed toward children. 2020. The global IoT M2M market is considered one of the top 10 technology markets according to a recent study. Apple claimed that it sold 10.9 million of its newest high-end phones, the iPhone XS, and XS Max, for the holiday season. Apple said this would represent a more-than 10 percent decline from the previous year. According to a new forecast from research firm Strategy Analytics, iPhone XS Max increased its global shipments by 75% in the first three months of 2018 compared to the same period last year and last quarter. Apple to launch iPhone XS and iPhone XR The iPhone XS and the iPhone XS Max were announced on September 12, 2018. They are replacing the iPhone X. The cheaper iPhone XR, equipped with a 5.8-inch OLED display, was launched on November 24, 2018, and it comes in either 32 or 128 GB storage configurations. Apple released its Annual Reports to the US Securities and Exchange Commission, which disclosed that sales of the iPhone XS and iPhone XS Max have been significantly higher than the previous models. Most of the revenue of the company comes from its iPhone XS and iPhone XS Max smartphones which are dominating
