The Indian Government is geared up to make sure the movie pirates do not get away with their success. On September 3, the HT came to know that the Central government is mulling tightening the liability of cloud service providers who host websites with illegal content. HT is not able to reveal the contents of the cloud service provider bill as details of the ongoing probe are confidential. The world is moving towards digital now, but I have heard that it is just a few months ago we used to transfer money from our bank accounts to pay for movie tickets. Today everyone spends money on mobile, but I do not think anyone will pay for content on the internet. People have started thinking how to protect their copyrights and how to discourage piracy." The news came after Prime Minister Narendra Modi, who is avid internet user, launched the nation's first broadband network that will eventually provide free internet access for millions across the country. According to the suit, Soren Johnson and Michael Berg, aided and abetted the theft of movies and television programs from studios including Disney, Pixar, and Twentieth Century Fox, for which the latter paid $22,500 and $15,000, respectively. Rapidshare also hosted copies of such titles as 'Kung Fu Panda' and 'Flight of the Indiana Jones', while Soren Johnson allegedly misappropriated a design template for Spider-Man's Spider-Man 3.
